TYPES OF MARKING

As you know, textiles are an excellent communication medium. More than just a commercial process, textile personalisation allows you to showcase your brand, your values and your image in front of everyone.

A genuine identity asset, textile personalisation can add real value to your company.

A result that will help you to stand out and be distinct from your competitors.

It's the only communication tool that can make a lasting impression on your customers. It gives you a visual impact that lasts over time, enabling long-term advertising.

We have selected for you our products that are compatible to the marking techniques below. You will find, with each product description, the recommended marking for it.

EMBROIDERY

This involves sewing your design flat or in relief directly onto the textile using polyester threads. This top-of-the-range process offers a delicate yet tough finish for both small and large runs.

SERIGRAPHY

This is an excellent, ideal and economical process for producing quality results on large print runs. It is inspired by the stencil printing method, which allows the ink to be deposited directly on the textile through a perforated screen.

DIGITAL OR DIRECT PRINTING

This modern process uses computer data to print your design directly onto the textile. Unlike other processes, the transmission of computer data to the printer reduces technical costs.

TEXTILE TRANSFER OR FLOCKING

The advantage of this process is that it can be used on all types of material, including luggage, textiles and bodywarmer. Ideal for complex areas such as sleeves, collars or label areas.

SA8000

Factory workers work hard. They should be able to work in a safe, pleasant environment. We're sure that's the case for us, as we comply with the world's strictest international standard on workplace conditions, the SA8000.

Trade with purpose

AMFORI BSCI

Since 2003, amfori BSCI has been striving to improve social performance in the supply chain. It stands for 11 major principles:

- Workers' rights
- Fair pay
- Particular care with health and safety
- Special protection for young workers
- No forced labour
- Ethical business behaviour
- No discrimination
- Decent working hours
- No child labour
- No precarious employment
- Protection of the environment

NEUTRAL® RESPONSIBILITY

Instead of using conventional energy Neutral® products are manufactured using renewable energy. That way, Neutral®'s responsible behaviour helps reduce CO2 emissions and is beneficial for both the local environment and the global climate.

License no DK0161049

EU ECOLABEL

We process and reuse waste water and we reduce and recycle our waste.

We only use environmentally friendly dyes and are constantly seeking new ways to manufacture our clothes. We do all this in compliance with the strictest industrial requirements imposed by the European ecology label.

FAIRTRADE (Commerce équitable)

Fairtrade Labelling Organizations International (FLO) is an organisation that connects fairtrade labelling initiatives in over 21 countries. The aim of the FLO and its members is to promote and facilitate fair trade in the global North in order to enable the sustainable development of marginalised producers in the global South. Fair trade is a system of exchange that aims to achieve greater fairness in conventional trade. It works by using trade as a lever for development and reducing inequalities, ensuring that producers are remunerated fairly. In addition to the economic aspect, fair trade also involves ethical, social and environmental concerns.

OEKO-TEX® Standard 100

OEKO-TEX® is an internationally recognised independent testing and certification system for textile products. It certifies that both raw and intermediate materials and finished products contain no substances that might be harmful to man or the environment at any stage of production. Test criteria are standardised throughout the world and refer to pH, pesticide use and heavy metals.

IMPRIM'VERT - Criterion no. 1: compliant destruction of hazardous waste. To meet this first requirement, printers must have all waste collected and destroyed by approved collectors in compliance with regulations. • Criterion no. 2: safe storage of hazardous liquids. To meet this second requirement, printers must ensure that all new hazardous liquids and liquid waste are safely and securely, whether or not they are currently in use. • Criterion no. 3: no use of toxic products. To meet this third requirement, the company pledges not to use any products labelled as toxic ("skull and crossbones" symbol). • Criterion no. 4: awareness programme for staff and customers. Companies are requested to set up a specific in-house communication programme about Imprim'Vert® in order to ensure that all employees are aware of the issues involved. For companies whose main activity is digital printing, in-house environmental awareness actions must be introduced to raise customer awareness. • Criterion no. 5: monitoring of the business's energy consumption. This criterion was introduced in 2010 with the aim of making printers more aware of how much energy they consume. To do this, the company must set up quarterly monitoring of its energy consumption and submit the readings every time they renew the label.

Sedex hosts the biggest collaborative platform dedicated to sharing data about supply chains and responsible purchasing. It is used by over 50,000 members, in over 150 countries. Tens of thousands of businesses use Sedex to manage their performance in terms of employment law, health and safety, and ethical trade.

Members use their services to access many types of data, standards and certifications, so that they can make informed commercial decisions and ensure continuous improvement in their value chains.

PETA APPROVED VEGAN

Peta Approved Vegan is an international certification regarding the well-being of animals. It is managed by PETA (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals), an international non-profit charitable organisation dedicated to establishing and protecting the rights of all animals. The label can be found on clothes, shoes and accessories. It guarantees that the products have not been tested on animals. Obtaining the label does not require an audit by an independent verification body. It is awarded on a self-declaration basis, and the manufacturer pays to be allowed to use the label.
